NOTE: The only isolation between the AC line and the chassis of this amplifier is a small "death cap" capacitor. To make this type of amplifier safer, it is recommended that an isolation transformer be installed between the AC power line and the amplifier.